Series Pass $99

One quarter of the way through the 21st century, what are the outstanding movies of our epoch?

We all know the big corporate blockbusters that have dominated the box office; they're inescapable and built to self-destruct in the brain.

But in this program, we're trying to look a little further afield and extend the conversation, to showcase international cinema; movies which speak to our times and push out the boundaries of the art form. These are true modern classics, and we're confident they will withstand the test of time.

She's powerful. She's vulnerable. She can be extremely funny at times, too. But mostly, in a film where she struggles to disentangle herself from the obsessions of men, Bree wants to be left alone."
